

Random Pop Lite

Welcome!

Thank you for purchasing Random Pop Lite! As you know, Random Pop Lite will allow you to easily create, rotate, and track "kill proof" popups for all your websites!

However, since this is the lite version, it is limited to allow only 5 popups and each popup displays a link to the Random Pop Lite site. (You should be aware of these limitations already because they are listed in the sales letter.) If you wish to remove these limitations, then please visit <http://www.randompop.com/special.html> for special pricing on the full version.

This .PDF file will explain your legal rights for Random Pop Lite and allow you to download it. # Installing Random Pop Lite

Installing Random Pop Lite is fairly simple. Just follow these steps.
(These instructions are also in the archive called readme.html.)

STEP 1 - Installing:

1. You need to decompress the Random Pop archive to a local directory.
2. FTP ALL the files it contains (being sure to retain the directory structure and filenames) to a folder on your host (I suggest rpop). Please ensure that the cases of filenames are retained, do NOT force filenames to all lower or upper case doing so will cause errors later and make sure you upload ALL them as ASCII (do NOT use autodecode).
3. Change the permissions on config.php to be writeable by all (666 or -rw-rw-rw- within your FTP Client).
4. Using your web browser visit the location you placed Random Pop with the addition of install.php, e.g.
<http://www.yourdomain.com/rpop/install.php>.
5. Fill out the requested information for your database, this must be created manually see you host for details, connection and hit Submit You must get message 'successfully installed' to continue.
6. Visit admin page
(<http://www.yourdomain.com/rpop/padmin.php>) and set password, email, size for page 'popup', number of popups in 'stats', system state (enabled/disabled).
7. Change the permissions on config.php to be writeable only by yourself (644 or -rw-r--r-- within your FTP Client).
8. Don't forget to remove install.php from FTP at the end.
